BROADCAST MEDIA

Besides his lecturing, Professor Capron addresses the general public's interest in legal and ethical issues in science and medicine through frequent appearances on television and radio shows

Network News

Mr. Capron has appeared live as a commentator on such programs as ABC's "Good Morning America" and "Nightline," NBC's "Nightly News" and "Today Show," the "CBS Morning News," "Face the Nation," and "48 Hours" with Dan Rather, and PBS' "The MacNeil/Lehrer Reports," in addition to appearing in the regular news and interview coverage of events in which he has been involved.

Cable TV

He has appeared frequently on C-SPAN (the public affairs channel) and the Cable News Network, as well as being a repeated guest on "The Freeman Reports" (CNN), "Larry King Live!" (CNN), on "The Newsmakers" (CNN), and the host for a program on biotechnology and the law on "Close Up" (C-SPAN).

Interview Shows

Mr. Capron has discussed issues of bioethics and public policy on shows such as NBC's "Headlines on Trial," "The Oprah Winfrey Show," "Midmorning Los Angeles" (KHJ-TV, Los Angeles), "The Open Mind" with Richard Heffner (WPIX-TV, New York), the "Joel Spivak Show" and "Whitney Live" (WCAU-TV, CBS Philadelphia), and "The Saturday Magazine" (WDVM, CBS Washington). He has also been a participant in three PBS shows, "Managing Our Miracles," "Ethics in America," and "Frontline/The Cruzan Case."

Radio

Prof. Capron has also spoken on numerous radio news, feature and interview shows in major cities across the country, including the nationally broadcast "Larry King Show."

Documentaries

Professor Capron served as an advisor to Fred Wiseman on the making of the award-winning six-hour documentary film on intensive care, Near Death, which was shown in theaters and broadcast over PBS in January 1990.
